

Writing Realism - Representations In French Fiction

---

By MORTIMER, Armine Kotin

U.S.A / The John Hopkins University Press, Baltimore, Maryland, U.S.A., 2000. Hardcover. Condition: New. In this study, the author contends that we can best understand the illusion of reality by examining works where acts of writing play an integral part within the story. Characters who are writing letters in "Les Liaisons Dangereuses", for instance, or writing a book manuscript in Sollers's "Femmes" are "writing realism". Such depicted acts of writing and storytelling inform readers about the author's own writing of realism. This is a provocative study of how readers can believe in the realism, if not the reality, of what they read, often despite overwhelming evidence of unreality. Mortimer analyzes striking examples from the 16th through to the 20th centuries, examining works by Balzac, Diderot, Laclos, and Marguerite de Navarre and by contemporary writers Serge Doubrovsky and Philippe Sollers. A 1st edition hardback with its dustjacket, in new condition. (254 pages & 12 pages of introduction).

READ ONLINE
[ 7 MB ]

Reviews

It is fantastic and great. It usually will not charge an excessive amount of. Once you begin to read the book, it is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding.

-- Modesto Mante

The ideal publication i at any time read through. It really is writter in easy phrases and never difficult to understand. Its been designed in an remarkably easy way which is merely right after i finished reading through this publication by which actually transformed me, affect the way i think.

-- Jaqueline Flatley