Excerpt from Murder: The Case of Lieutenant Wark The land of Judge Jeffreys in matters judicial is in a peculiar position; the masses and the uninitiated are convinced that our law, if not the acme of perfection, is very near to this desirable condition, and that the administration of the law is in the best hands; that any improvements which might be required, in altering an antiquated system, are in due course effected by our legislators. Lawyers know better, but they have every reason to be silent, and the honest counsel agrees with Mephistopheles: I know what science this has come to be. All rights and laws are still transmitted Like an eternal sickness of the race, - From generation unto generation fitted, And shifted round from place to place. Reason becomes a sham, Beneficence a worry: Thou art a grandchild, therefore woe to thee! The right born with us, ours in verity, This to consider, there s, alas! no hurry. We English are worse off...
